

Technical Writer Candidate Assignment:

As part of your application for technical writer at JumpCloud, we'd like you to complete a writing exercise so we can get to know you through your writing style.

For each of the following exercises, assume that your audience has zero previous knowledge of the technologies you're documenting. Choose an audience for each exercise and give a brief description of the audience you choose. Have fun, get creative, and show us your best work!

Exercises for Writing Instructions:

Choose one of the following exercises to complete.

Exercise A:

Sign up for a free JumpCloud account at jumpcloud.com by clicking Get Started in the upper right corner of the page. Write a set of instructions for completing a task in the Administrator Console. Need some help? Take a look at our Getting Started Knowledge Base articles at support.jumpcloud.com.

Exercise B:

Using the application of your choice, write a set of instructions for how to set up a video conferencing call.

Extra credit:

If making videos is your thing, make a short video to complement your set of instructions. Be sure to keep your video to 2 minutes or less.

Exercises for Explaining Concepts:

Choose one of the following exercises to complete.

Exercise C:

Explain the difference between the following protocols: SAML and SCIM.

Exercise D:

Explain the difference between on premises and cloud-based applications.
